

Helping Hands—A Community Building Ministry

“The church, then, believes that through each of its members and its community as a whole it can help to make the human family and its history still more human.” The Church in the Modern World, #40

Through the “Helping Hands” ministry, members of the parish community provide meals to families at the birth of a child or in other times of need.

To be listed as a possible volunteer for this ministry, please contact the Social Justice Ministry through Sandra Acosta, 509-952-3098, or the Parish Office, 332-5312 (see Staff page for email).

Since many in need do not always ask for help, please contact Sandra Acosta or the Parish Office if you know of someone who could use this help. The family can then be contacted to see if they are willing to accept this service.
